It was a Saturday afternoon and John was getting ready to go to the grocery store and get supplies for dinner later tonight. He was on a time crunch because he wanted to make sure he could make it to the gym before he had to come home and make dinner.

Since John was in such a rush he decided to reuse a previous recipe he had already cooked before.

John asked his wife and kids what they wanted for dinner. The kids wanted the chicken sandwiches from the week before. His wife agreed, so he settled on this.

John decided to use this app to go into his saved lists. John always saved all the recipes and was able to find the chicken sandwich ingredients.

John was able to go into the store and find these items quickly and efficiently.

John went home to drop off the food and had enough time to go to the gym before coming home and cooking dinner.

John's wife and kids were very satisfied with their meal!
